CECILIA GROW CASE
DECIDED IN FAVOR
OF PLAINTIFF

Specifically stating the amounts that shall be given to each of the heirs in the case of Cecilia Grow, administratrix of the estate of Cyrus Grow, deceased, against the Oregon Short Line company, the jury last evening rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $8,998.75 divided among the heirs as follows:

Mrs. Grow, $2000; Cyrus E. Grow, $1500.75; Esther S. Grow, $1372.50; John W. Grow, $2058.75; and Vera C.
 Grow, $2058.75, the amounts being awarded to the children according to their ages, which range from 10 to 3 years, the younger children being given the larger amounts as it will require more to support them until the age of maturity.

The father was killed in a collision at Mora Sliding in Idaho in the early part of 1910, since which time the suit for $35,000 damages has been before the courts. In the first instance Judge J. A. Howell directed a verdict in favor of the defendant company on the grounds that it was not an interstate case and should be heard by the Idaho courts. The supreme court reversed the decision and remanded the case back to the district court for re-trial. Judge J. C.
 Call of the First district was called by Judge Howell to hear the second trial.

SWEDISH PEOPLE HAVE BIG OUTING

The annual celebration of the Swedish people of Utah was held yesterday at Lagoon and was a big success in every respect. A crowd even larger than those of former years journeyed to the resort from Salt Lake and Ogden via the Bamberger Electric line and from other parts of the state on the steam roads, transferring to the Bamberger at the two terminals of that line. Those from Brigham City, for the most part, came as far as Ogden via the Ogden Rapid Transit company.

The program of the day consisted of track and field contests popular in America and a number that were native to Sweden.

During both the afternoon and evening, the dancing pavilion proved very popular with a goodly portion of the merry-makers and the dance program was divided between popular dances of America and a number of Swedish dances were danced in costume.

The big event of the evening was, however, a brilliant display of Swedish fireworks, which took place from a safe position in the big lagoon.

MRS. CALLIE CAVE IS
VICTIM OF A GRAFT

Mrs. Callie Cave of 2202 Adams avenue was buccinated out of $2 Tuesday night by a well-dressed stranger. The man who gave his name as S. W. Sea-more, came to the Cave residence early in the evening, saying that he had been directed there by a prominent local business man, and that he was looking for a good furnished room.

Mrs. Cave took him at his word, believing that the recommendation was bona fide. After being installed in the room, he said that he was anxious to get his trunk delivered to the house and asked Mrs. Cave to cash a check for nine dollars. She told him that she did not have the money, but after he had pressed his request a little more earnestly, she gave him $2 and kept the check for security.

The man did not return to the room Tuesday night, but came to the house yesterday morning and saying that he knew a friend who would cash the check, asked Mrs. Cave to give it to him. She did so and the fellow has not been seen since. The circumstance was reported to the police yesterday afternoon and they are now on the lookout.

MORE TESTIMONY IN DAMAGE CASE OF
THE CITY

Yesterday afternoon the plaintiff, in the case of Myrtle Spalding against Ogden City, in a suit to recover $10,- 925 damages for alleged personal injuries, concluded the introduction of testimony and the defendant placed C. J. Brown on the stand. Mr. Brown, however, proved to be rather a surprising witness for the city, the city attorney stating that he did not anticipate that the witness would so testify.

Mr. Brown said that he was at the place of the accident after it occurred and that he saw no lamps, except on the south side of the dirt which had been taken from the trench. He also said that the lights could not be seen from the north side of the trench, the side from which Miss Spalding approached the ditch.

Thomas Shipley, an employee in the waterworks department, was placed on the witness stand this morning and he told the story of placing the lights along the trench on the evening that Miss Spalding was injured.
 He said that he placed five red lights along a distance of about 100 feet and that they could be seen from all directions. He stood on the sidewalk on the north side of the trench and could see all the lights. The witness said that he placed the lights on the dirt and embedded them to keep them in position and he stated that they were in the same position the next morning as they were the evening before.

The next witness for the defendant was L. P. Hardy, former assistant of the waterworks department, who stated that at the time of the accident he was boarding at the same place as Miss Spalding. He remembered going to his boarding house about 6 o'clock on the evening of November 5 and he noticed that there were red lights all along the trench which had been dug by the waterworks department. He said that at the supper table it was remarked by those around the table that the street was lighted with red lanterns along the space where excavations were being made. Miss Spalding was at the table only a part of the time and he could not say whether she heard the conversation. Mr. Hardy said that before he had finished his meal someone came to the door and said that Miss Spalding had fallen into the trench. He went out on the street shortly afterwards and again noticed the lights along the trench.

Other witnesses who testified during the day were Robert Shipley, construction foreman on the trench; S.
 Hopkins, Wilford Cutlip and D. Taylor. The case will be concluded this afternoon.

Mr. Shipley corroborated the testimony of his brother Thomas regarding the placing of the lights on the trench and Mr. Hopkins also testified that the lights were properly placed there.

Wilford Cutlip said that he aided in carrying Miss Spalding from the trench, but that he did not observe any lights at that time. He would not say, however, that the lights were not there, but that there was considerable excitement and he was not looking especially for lanterns. He stated that, on his return shortly after the accident, he observed the lights along the trench.

Mr. Taylor was called for the purpose of identifying the map of the premises where the accident occurred.

The points on which the event will be scored are as follows:

Sewage, 15 points; stables and corrals, 15; garbage disposed of, 10; purity of water supply, 10; sanitation of school and other public buildings, 5; sanitary food markets, 5; presence of flies, 5; sanitation of residences, 5; condition of streets, parks and allays, 10; general appearance of homes and yards, 5; lawns and flower gardens, 5; vacant lots, 5 and render, 5.

The scoring will begin on August 15 and will continue until all of the cities in the contest are scored.

EXCELLENT PROGRAMS IN ALL THREE HOUSES

GREAT BUSINESS
REVIVAL ASSUREDNew Constitution of Freedom For Business Is Object of Administration.

Washington, June 25.—"A new constitution of freedom for business," is the object of the administration trust legislation program, President Wilson declared, addressed a party of Virginia editors at the White House. He predicted the country was on the verge of a great business revival.

The president made his remarks shortly after he had heard of the Claffin failure in New York, although no officials ventured to say he had that in mind while speaking. The president told the editors he would absolutely insist that his anti-trust program be passed at the present session of congress, and that his information was that congress and the nation are behind him. Declaring that the United States was now on the verge of a very strong business revival, the president added that a temporary business depression at present was sure to pass as soon as business realized that the anti-trust legislation is sure to be enacted.

For ten years, the president said, business has been uneasy because of attacks on it. He contended that his administration was the first in years that had been the real friend of business and he added that his administration was going to prove its friendship by clearing away all anxiety among business men over what was to come.

President Very Earnest.
 The president spoke with great earnestness, jesting vigorously, he declared that through governmental agencies and through an extensive correspondence he believed the administration to be better able to judge business conditions than any one else in the country. He compared the condition of business to a man about to undergo an operation and who fears that it will be a capital one. He added that it had become apparent that only minor operations were necessary and that it would be dangerous to postpone them.

Nothing would be more unfair to business, the president declared, than to keep it guessing. He said the administration was in power with a definite program of corrective legislation and that the administration was ready and determined to go ahead with its program. During the pendency of the tariff and currency bills, he said, business shivered, but there were no serious effects. He declared there was no reason to think the result would be more serious after the anti-trust bills are passed.

Trust Program Will Go Through.
 "Some people think the anti-trust legislation will be postponed," said the president, as he advanced a step.
 "Well, it will not be postponed." His jaws snapped. "It will not be postponed, because we are the real friends of business and ready to give business its new constitution of freedom."

"If we stop now there would be another long period of agitation with its resulting dangers to business. But we are not going to face that danger, we are going ahead with our program now and if the reports I receive are correct, it will not take us very long to finish our work."

FIRE STILL BURNING

Salem, Mass., June 25.—The whole western half of the city is threatened by fire. Twenty-five factories were in ruins at 5:15 o'clock and the flames were still beyond control. The loss was estimated at over $2,000,000.
 It was reported three men had been killed and about twenty injured in the collapse of buildings at South Salem. The water supply went out and dynamite was used to check the spread of the flames.

Plattsburgh, Neb., June 25.—Mansfield O'Brien, son of W. J. O'Brien, superintendent of state hatcheries, was shot and killed here last night the victim of a revolver duel between Chief of Police Rainey and George Barr, a fisherman, whom the chief was trying to arrest.

Isis theater today continuing until Wednesday, Francis X. Bushman and Gerda
